

國小低年級學童身體尺寸與身高比例調查

洪婉甄, 李開偉

工業管理學系

管理學院

kai@chu.edu.tw

摘要

Anthropometric data are fundamental to various designs for human use. This research investigates anthropometric measures for junior elementary school children. Ten linear body dimensions were collected from 65 subjects from an elementary school in Chang-Hwa County. Descriptive statistics were performed to analyze these data. The ratios between the measured terms and the heights were calculated. Comparisons between the results of the study and those reported in the literature were discussed.

關鍵字：anthropometrics, junior elementary school children, body dimension versus stature ratio, height