

A new approach for selecting portfolio of new product development projects

魏秋建, 張弘紋

Industrial Management

Management

a0824809@ms55.hinet.net

Abstract

The most decisive factor that survives enterprises under stiff competition is the development of new product, and when entering the product development stage after the fuzzy front end, a best project portfolio should be finalized in order to potentially create expected revenue and competitive advantage.

Keyword : portfolio, multi-criteria group decision making, fuzzy linear programming