

Social Psychological Factors Affecting the Employment of Graduate Students in Taiwan

楊錦章, Shun-Hsing Chen, Hsin-I Fan

Applied Statistics

Management

Abstract

In this study the researchers use factor analysis to identify the factors affecting the competitiveness of college graduate students in the job market, based on a sample of senior students enrolled in an undergraduate school.

Keyword : social psychological factors, college graduate students, career planning, employment, Taiwan.