

Party Politics in Taiwan
石振國
Public Administration
Humanities and Social Sciences
chenkuo@chu.edu.tw

Abstract

1. Formation of Party System on Taiwan
  - 1.1 Appearance of Party System :as a component of party-state
  - 1.2 Composed Hegemonic Party : not endogenous party from civil society
  - 1.3 Latent Oppositional Force

2. Transformation of Party System : Four Periods
  - 2.1 Hegemonic Party System in Authoritarian Regime
  - 2.2 Cooperation of Oppositional Force and its Development in Local Area
  - 2.3 Formation of Two-Party System: Cooperative and Competitive Relationship between Kuomintang (KMT) and Democratic Progress Party (DPP)
  - 2.4 Polarized Struggle Between Two Party Coalitions

3. Introduction of Main Political Parties
  - 3.1 KMT: brief history, political influence, organizational structure, ideology and policy platform
  - 3.2 DPP: brief history, political influence, organizational structure, ideology and policy platform
  - 3.3 People First Party (PFP): brief history, political influence, organizational structure, ideology and policy platform
  - 3.4 Taiwan Solidarity Union (TSU): brief history, political influence, organizational structure, ideology and policy platform

4. Environment of Party Operation
  - 4.1 Constitution and Government Structure
  - 4.2 Civil Association Act and relevant acts
  - 4.3 Electoral System

- 5 For the Future of Party Politics

5.1 Causes and Forces of Party System Change

5.2 Enduring Polarized Struggle, Party Cartelization, or Centripetal Competition

5.3 Possibility of Citizen Participation

Keyword : party politics on Taiwan;political party;political party system